Stacie Engelmann, SPHR, SHRM-SCP,
Assistant Vice President/HR Consultant with Lockton Companies
Receives 2017 LEAD Award from Missouri State Council of SHRM

Osage Beach, MO, August 17, 2017 - The Missouri State Council of Society for Human Resource Management (SHRM) presented their 2017 LEAD Award to Stacie Engelmann, SPHR, SHRM-SCP who is Assistant Vice President/HR Consultant with Lockton Companies in Kansas City, Missouri.

Established in 2012, this prestigious award honors a Missouri human resources professional who has achieved the highest level of Leadership, Excellence, Achievement and Dedication (LEAD) within the profession as an innovator, advocate and/or thought leader, in addition to volunteer service. Engelmann was recognized for her accomplishments at the SHRM Missouri State Conference held August 1-4 at Tan-Tar-A Resort.

For more than 14 years, Engelmann has worked in the field of Human Resources and currently leads the HR Consulting practice for Lockton's Kansas City office. "I am honored to receive this year's LEAD Award and grateful to have spent much of my career surrounded and inspired by some terrific leaders, mentors, and volunteers," said Engelmann.

She is committed to staying on top of employment law, strategic human resource trends and best practices, allowing her to provide guidance to the human resource and business management community. Engelmann provides this expertise to the members of her local SHRM chapter, clients of her organization and to the Kansas City business community.

Engelmann led SHRM-KC's community sponsorship of the When Work Works initiative in partnership with the Women's Foundation and the City of Kansas City through the Office of Mayor Sly James. Last fall, she worked with these organizations to create a program, KC Works – Creating the Workplace of the Future, to offer engaging and timely content focused on attracting and retaining the best and brightest employees, equity and efficiency in the workplace, and building practices that support employees and their families.

"One of our primary objectives at Lockton is to help our clients stay on top of new, creative approaches related to their total rewards practices that align with their overall human capital strategies. I'm fortunate to be able to tie something I'm passionate about into what I do professionally," Said Engelmann.

Engelmann is also a champion at her own company to create and maintain practices that support Lockton Associates and their families. When Lockton was looking to design a new parental leave program, they turned to Engelmann and Lockton's internal HR team. They designed and proposed a leave program that benefits not only mothers but all working parents. As a result of the new Paid Parental Leave program, the organization anticipates a significant return on their investment from less turnover implications to more engaged and productive parents when they return from leave. As a result of this and other programs that support their Associates and families, Lockton Companies has been a recipient of the When Work Works Award for two consecutive years.

Engelmann is a Past President and current board member of the Society for Human Resource Management of Greater Kansas City (SHRM-KC) and is the current SHRM Foundation Director for the SHRM Missouri State Council. She has a long history of community service for organizations such as Junior League of Kansas City, the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society, American Heart Association, and a KC Scholar's Reviewer. Engelmann has received numerous awards, including the SHRM of Greater Kansas City Volunteer of the Year Award.

Engelmann earned her undergraduate degree in Business Administration with an emphasis in human resources from Missouri State University in Springfield, Missouri. She obtained her Professional in Human Resources (PHR) in 2004, and Senior Professional in Human Resources (SPHR) in 2007 from the Human Resource Certification Institute (HRCI). In 2014, she received the SHRM Senior Certified Professional (SHRM-SCP) from SHRM.
